Techno Tools Corporation Files Patent Infringement Lawsuit Against Associated Equipment, Inc.

Techno Tools Corporation of Hialeah, FL, USA has filed a patent infringement lawsuit against Associated Equipment, Inc. of St. Louis, MO USA in the United States District Court in Miami, the company has announced.

The lawsuit claims that various Associated electronic battery tester models violate Techno Tools' conductance battery tester patent 6,768,309, which has been assigned exclusively to the company. The lawsuit also claims that Associated has misappropriated the company's valuable and confidential trade secrets, has breached it's Purchase and Confidentiality Agreements, and has an unpaid balance on their Account.

Techno Tools is a manufacturer of hand held electronic test and measuring equipment. The company's products are designed for servicing automotive and stationary electrical, electronic, heating, and air conditioning equipment.
